Colebrook, NH: (February 1, 2021) Noting his extensive leadership experience in the health care environment, Indian Stream Health Center has promoted Sergio G. Zullich to Chief Executive Officer.

"We are very excited to announce this promotion," said Gail Fisher, Board President of Indian Stream Health Center. Fisher also announced the retirement of Gregory Culley, Acting CEO. "Over the past four years, as acting CEO and a board member, Greg has done an outstanding job in moving Indian Stream forward,” said Fisher. “We are very grateful for his leadership, vision and guidance and will miss his many contributions in support of community health.”

Dr. Culley, who has worked in the rural public health setting for much of his professional career, said that he will “truly treasure his time at Indian Stream. This is a wonderful and welcoming community,” he said. “And the staff and providers at the practice come to work each day with a singular mission-to provide the highest level of care to our patients. It was a privilege to work alongside them and I thank everyone for their hard work and dedication.”

Zulich has been serving as Indian Stream’s Pharmacy Director since 2019 and in addition to oversight and direction of the Pharmacy, has been part of the practice’s senior leadership team over that time period. He came to Indian Stream from Guthrie Robert Packer Hospital in Sayre, PA, where he served as Director of Inpatient Pharmacy. He is certified by the American Pharmacists Association in Immunization Delivery and Diabetes Care.

“I was first drawn to Indian Stream because of its mission and dedication to person-centered care,” said Zulich. “Over the past two years, I’ve greatly enjoyed working with this great team and getting to know this wonderful community. I’m very appreciative of this new opportunity.”
